

Sponsored by the Stony Brook University Department of Philosophy and the Phenomenology Research Center

Perspectives on the Heart

A Workshop in Phenomenology

Friday, October 23, 2020

9:30 - 11:00 EDT 13:30 - 15:00 GMT 6:30 - 8:00 PDT	Christina M. Gschwandtner Fordham University: New York “Becoming the Familiar of Your Heart: The Phenomenality of Ascetic Practices” Moderator: Kelsey Borrowman, Villanova University PhD Program, and SBU Philosophy MA Alumni
11:00 - 12:30 EDT 15:00 - 16:30 GMT 8:00 - 9:30 PDT	Rosemary RP Lerner Pontifical Catholic University of Peru: Lima, Peru “From Reason to Love? Or from Love to Reason? The Role of Instincts” Moderator: Horacio Martinez, SBU Philosophy PhD Program
13:00 - 14:30 EDT 17:00 - 18:30 GMT 10:00 - 11:30 PDT	Natalie Depraz University of Rouen: Rouen, France “Measuring the Rhythms of the Heart of the Praying Person: a ‘irréalisable’?” Moderator: Adam Fishman, SBU Philosophy PhD Program

Note from the Organizers:

Times for each session are noted in Eastern Daylight Time, Greenwich Mean Time, and Pacific Daylight Time to best approximate most of the regions in which participants are located. Please consider using this link to coordinate the times to your specific Time Zone:

<https://www.timeanddate.com/worldclock/converter.html?iso=20201021T150000&p1=179>

Contact Us: Anthony J. Steinbock, Department of Philosophy and Director of the Phenomenology Research Center: Faculty Conference Organizer: anthony.steinbock@stonybrook.edu
Stephanie M. Struble, Graduate Assistant: stephanie.struble@stonybrook.edu